LIBRARIES AND CHILDREN'S CENTRES FACE AXE

Report by Henry James

THREE West Lancashire libraries and three children's centres are threatened with closure as part of Lancashire County Council proposals to save £200m by 2020/21.

A day care centre for older people and a children's social care facility in the borough are also under threat following the announcement which, it is feared, could result in the loss of hundreds of jobs.

Libraries earmarked for closure are Up Holland library at Hall Green, along with Burscough and Parbold libraries.

St John's Children's Centre in Skelmersdale is also facing the axe as are Hesketh with Becconsall Children's Centre and Moorgate Children's Centre, Ormskirk.

The Children's Social Care facility at Fairlie, Skelmersdale and Ormskirk's Derby Street Day Centre for older people could also be closed under the proposals.

The county council plan to reduce the number of fixed locations where people can access libraries from 73 to 44. It is proposed that 37 of these will offer a fully-staffed service while seven will operate as unstaffed 'satellite' libraries where people can use self-service counters to collect books which they have reserved and return books.

County Councillor Mein

This will be supported by the county council's mobile library service, home library service and virtual library service, which allows people to access e-books, e-audiobooks and online reference service.

The authority are proposing to bring services "together to form a network of multi-functional buildings known as Neighbourhood Centres, which would provide a base for a range of different services in one place."

Councillors are being asked to give the go-ahead for a 12-week consultation period, starting on Wednesday, May 18, inviting comments and suggestions about the proposals, before taking a final decision later this year.

Leader of Lancashire County Council, County Councillor Jenny Mein, said: "The severity of the county council's financial position cannot be overstated and the ongoing cuts in central government funding combined with rising demand for our services mean the only way we can maintain the services that people rely on is to deliver them in a different way. I'm acutely aware that people have a very strong connection to their local services, particularly places like libraries which are often seen as a valuable part of the community.

"These proposals are very difficult ones for councillors to have to consider, but our aim is to come up with a solution that still gives everyone in Lancashire access to good services, even though some will have to be further away than they are now.

"The cabinet report reflects a lot of hard work to assess where services should be located, taking account of things such as geographic spread, the needs of different communities, and access issues such as public transport and car parking.

"Following the cabinet meeting we intend to put these plans out to consultation and we'll be very keen for people to express their views and help shape the final proposals."

Labour retain control of borough council

LABOUR retained control of West Lancashire Borough Council following last Thursday's local elections, increasing their majority by one in the process at the expense of the Conservatives.

One seat in each of the 18 of the borough council wards were up for grabs but the only change came in Halsall where Labour's Maureen Mills defeated Tory Doreen Stephenson by just 24 votes.

However, Councillor Adrian Owens, representing the independent Our West Lancashire group, retained his Derby ward seat despite a strong challenge by Labour.

The make-up of the authority now sees Labour with 31 seats, the Conservatives with 22 and Our West Lancashire with one.

Turn-out was 35.3% and full results were as follows:

Civic recognition for young volunteers

THREE volunteers with Skelmersdale Action For Youth who received commendations at this year's Lord High Sheriff Young Citizen Awards 2016 have now earned recognition from the Mayor of West Lancashire, Councillor Nikki Hennessy.

The trio - James Hughes, 27, Phil Newby, 19, and 17-year-old Owen Hart - were given a civic reception at the mayor's parlour by Cllr. Hennessy.

James, Phil and Owen have completed more than 350 hours service to their community helping run positive activities for youngsters, such as Crazy Carts.

Community leaders, Alan Lewis and Margaret Huyton, nominated all three. They said: "It was an honour to nominate all three of them and it was nice to see that there were three young men being awarded for their work on the estate.

"Many young people don't get recognised for their volunteering in the community. SAY and Evermoor Hub would like to say a big thank-you to the mayor and her staff for arranging this presentation event for them.

"We would also like to thank all three young men."

Phil, and Owen made it through to the final heat of this year's Lord High Sheriff Young Citizen Awards, which is entered by more than a 100 young people from across the county.

It was the sixth year running that young people from Skelmersdale have reached the final heat.

James was nominated for his volunteering at Evermoor Hub and the food bank.

He also helps disabled friends when they attend the Evermoor Hub for activities each week and their lunch every Friday.

He received a special award for his volunteering at the Lord High Sheriff Young Citizen Awards 2016.

New cycling route being created to serve popular business park

A NEW cycling route is being created to serve a popular business park near Skelmersdale.

Highways England is building a new cycle track over the M58, with the aim of providing a safer travel option for commuters from Skelmersdale to West Lancashire Investment Centre, a major business park south of the motorway.

The scheme involves widening the footpath to accommodate pedestrians and cyclists, improving pedestrian crossing facilities and installing new signs and safety barriers on the bridge which carries the A5068 over the M58 at junction 4.

The project is one of 19 cycling schemes across the North West due to be completed later this spring to make it easier for cyclists to use major A roads and cross motorway junctions.

Project manager, Phil Tyrrell, said: "Cycling is growing in popularity both for commuter and leisure riders, as people look for ways to improve their health and reduce their impact on the environment.

"The improvements we're making on the bridge will make it easier and safer for cyclists to cross over the M58, travelling between Skelmersdale and a popular business park."

To support the work on the bridge, night closures will be required on the M58 between junctions three and four to install and remove safety measures. These are scheduled to take place between 9pm and 5am today (Wednesday, May 11), Saturday May 21, Sunday May 22, and Monday, May 23.

Highways England is carrying out more than 200 cycling projects across the country over the next five years after the government set up a £100 million dedicated fund for cycling in its Road Investment Strategy.

More than 40 schemes have now begun and are set to be completed this spring. Work will continue on the remaining projects between now and 2021.

The schemes aim to provide new cycling facilities which are safe, separate from traffic and can be used by cyclists of all abilities.

The first phase of the cycling programme will see cycle lanes and crossings created or improved at seven motorway junctions in the North West, and improvements will also be made on major A roads in the county.

The investment in cycling schemes supports the government's ambition to encourage walking and cycling so that it becomes normal for short journeys or as part of a longer journey.

Award-winning author puts pupils on 'write' lines

YOUNG book lovers were certainly on the 'write' lines when an award-winning children's author came to Up Holland.

Alan Gibbons, winner of the Blue Peter Book Award 2000 for his best-seller 'Shadow of the Minotaur' visited Up Holland High School in Sandbrook Road where he did readings and held workshops for the students and pupils from local primary schools.

The author, who has been writing children's books for 23 years, has been shortlisted for the Carnegie Medal in 2001 and 2003 and twice also for the Booktrust Teenage Prize.

PTA raises funds for school with Concourse stall

WEST Lancashire Community High Parent-Teacher Association held a stall in the Concourse shopping centre recently to raise money for the Skelmersdale school.

The school, which is based on School Lane, is a 'generic learning difficulties high school and every student is aged between 11 and 19 and has an education, health, care plan or a statement of special education needs.

Janet Leigh from the PTA said: "Thank-you to everyone who attended the stall and bucket collection at the Concourse.

"And thank-you to everyone also who bought goodies. We raised £281.39 to help the school."

New plea for info on gunfire incident

DETECTIVES have made a new appeal for information after reports that a gun was fired on a street in Skelmersdale last month.

The alleged incident took place at about 1am on Wednesday, April 13, when residents in the Tanfields and Willow Hey areas of the town reported hearing several loud bangs.

Following an investigation and enquiries among neighbours, officers believe several gunshots were discharged, although no-one was injured and no property was damaged.

Police are seeking for help in tracing those responsible, including information about a vehicle seen in the area at the time.

Detective constable Dominic Webster, of Skelmersdale CID, said: "We are appealing for information after several reports of gunfire being heard in the Skelmersdale area.

"Residents were awoken by loud bangs and while no-one was injured, this is still distressing for the community and we are keen to find those behind this threat.

"We are particularly interested in finding the driver of a Renault Kangoo which was seen in the area at the time of the incident."

Anyone with information can contact police on 101 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111 or online at Crimestoppers-uk.org

Trust decision on suspended health chiefs is now well past deadline

Report by Ollie Cowan

IT was hoped that by April the ongoing saga of the suspended bosses at Southport and Ormskirk Hospital Trust would have been over.

But now, into the second week in May, more than two months after trust chair Sue Musson optimistically suggested the investigation would be concluded by 'early April' the Champion understands that there is still no change - with the cost to the taxpayers soaring with each and every week of the prolonged inquiry.

Although little is known about why the action was taken against the health bosses, chief executive Jonathan Parry, chief operating officer Sheilah Finnegan, human resources director Sharon Partington and deputy director of performance Richard McCarthy were all suspended last August following whistleblowing allegations.

They continue to be paid while the now nine-month investigation rolls on – with no timeframe for when the results are expected. Once the findings are passed to the trust, time will still be needed for bosses to act accordingly.

Jonathan Parry

Throughout the ongoing investigation concerns have been raised about the sheer amount of money being spent by the trust who have had to bring in temporary replacements to do the work of the excluded bosses who it is understood have been on full pay during the investigations.

The current figure stands at well over £200,000 having been spent in salaries – which legally they are entitled to during their exclusion.

The Champion understands that chief executive Jonathan Parry has been paid in the region of £100,000 in the nine months that he has been excluded from his role. His annual salary stands at the top end of £165,000, according to the annual trust report from 2014/2015.

Trust chair Sue Musson told the Champion: "The trust excluded four members of staff, the chief executive, the chief operating officer, the human resources director and the deputy director of performance, on August 4, 2015.

"The exclusions followed an independent external investigation into three separate whistleblowing complaints received by the trust.

"A second investigation was then commissioned under the trust's disciplinary policy. That investigation is being carried out by another external organisation. The investigation is progressing. Once completed, the trust will review the appropriate next steps."

Man caught with cannabis weeks after receiving suspended sentence for dealing

By our Court Reporter

A SKELMERSDALE man has been caught in possession of cannabis following a police search of his house just weeks after being handed a suspended prison sentence for dealing in it.

Graham Abbott, 37, of Inglewhite, was handed a 15-month sentence, suspended for 24 months, at Liverpool Crown Court on February 3 for possession with intent to supply.

However, just four weeks later, on March 7, police executed a search warrant and discovered that he still had quantities of the drug at his home.

When he appeared at Ormskirk Magistrates Court on May 3, where he pleaded guilty to possession, prosecutor Philippa White said that the quantity of the drug was consistent with personal use but invited the magistrates to send the matter back to the crown court for a judge to consider whether to activate the suspended sentence, due to the "proximity of the sentence to the commission of this particular offence".

Solicitor David Lloyd told the magistrates that they could legally deal with the matter. "It is correct that he was sentenced in February for the offence of possession with intent to supply cannabis," he said, "He pleaded guilty on a basis. He was effectively funding his own cannabis use by supplying cannabis to a small number of associates. That's why he got a suspended sentence. He was not gaining financially."

The solicitor added that Abbott had a long-standing cannabis habit but had been "winding down" his use. "His house has been raided many times for drugs. As a cannabis user, he is in a sense easy picking as it was always going to be there," he said.

Following the advice of the legal advisor, the magistrates sent the matter to Liverpool Crown Court where he will appear on June 7.

Colin shakes off ring-rust to reach elite comp semis

AN amateur boxing club coach from Skelmersdale returned to the ring as a competitor after a three-year absence and reached the semi-finals of a prestigious competition.

Colin Day was the toast of Birch Green ABC after battling his way through to the last four of the Elite ABA Championships at the Echo Arena Liverpool.

Competing in the 69-kilo welterweight division the 26-year-old went in to these championships having not boxed competitively for three years because of his coaching commitments at the Heversham-based club.

Comprehensive victories over Callum Lynn, representing the British Armed Forces, and Doncaster's Ryan Stevenson, earned Colin a title at No.1 seed Ekow Essuman from the East Midlands in the semis.

Unfortunately, a disputed second-round stoppage ended Colin's title bid although Birch Green officials believed the decision was premature and that he would have a chance of winning if the contest had been allowed to carry on.

Club secretary Bobby Givnan said: "The training and dedication that Colin has shown to get to this level is to be congratulated. He has done the boxing club and Skelmersdale proud."

Uninsured driver spotted behind wheel of dad's car

A SKELMERSDALE man was caught driving his dad's Mercedes A140 after a police officer ran a check on the registered keeper of the car while it was out on the road and saw that the driver was too young to be the owner.

When Adam Moores, 25, of Ingelwhite appeared at Ormskirk Magistrates Court on May 3, where he pleaded guilty to driving without a licence or insurance and taking a vehicle without consent, prosecutor Philippa White said: "There was an unmarked police vehicle on High Street. The officer saw a vehicle travelling towards him carrying a group of young males.

"The registered keeper was a 48-year-old male. The driver did not appear to be this age."

Ms White told the court that Moores was convicted of committing the same offence last year.

Moores told a probation officer that he was just picking up his belongings from his ex-partner's address after she had threatened to throw them out "if he did not collect them immediately".

Fining him £120 and ordering that he pay costs and victim surcharge of £145, magistrates ordered that he undertake 40 hours of unpaid work and participate with 10 days of a rehabilitative activity - which the probation worker said will help him empathise with victims and understand the harm his behaviour could cause.

Sufferer speaks out to raise awareness of condition that can often go undiagnosed

Report by Henry James

A WOMAN from Skelmersdale who suffers from a debilitating neurological disease has spoken out in a bid to raise awareness of the condition which often goes undiagnosed.

Sarah Lake has Myalgic Encephalomyelitis (ME) and has chosen to share her story as part of ME Awareness Month in May.

And the 37-year-old has a simple message for others who might have the condition - don't ignore ME!

She said: "Social activities are limited and rare. When possible, I hire a mobility scooter to manage shopping trips with friends. I struggle to go out after work and mostly just crawl home to bed.

"Some friendships have fallen by the wayside as I am no longer able to participate in hobbies I used to love.

"I also feel having ME is isolating because no one - however good intentioned - can really understand unless they are going through the same thing."

People with ME experience severe, persistent fatigue associated with what's called post-exertional malaise (the body's inability to recover after expending even small amounts of energy; sometimes also called 'payback') and chronic pain. Any physical or mental activity can trigger a flare-up in symptoms.

Sarah says: "ME has impacted on every area of my life"

Sarah Lake

"I can care for myself and still get out and about on a good day, but any extra activity and I'm wiped out for days.

"The friend I house-share with is now my main carer. She does all the housework and most of the food shopping.

"My illness has impacted on her social life too, as we can no longer just go out for a day and even holidays need to be carefully planned with plenty of rest days."

Before becoming ill Sarah worked full-time as an office manager in a busy secondary school.

Outside of work she enjoyed socialising and shopping with friends, running a Guide unit and helping with a Brownie unit, and was a regular bell-ringer at Ormskirk Parish Church.

She added; "ME has impacted on every area of my life. I still work in the same job, but only four days a week, and I can no longer push myself that extra bit.

"I no longer do Brownies or Guides and I can no longer attend bell-ringing. Even if I had the energy to climb the stairs to the tower, I wouldn't have enough strength to pull the bell rope.

"I used to love reading and was never seen without a book. Now I struggle to concentrate and I can't read as much as I used to."

Dalton tennis kids are a smash hit

The winning team from Dalton St Michael's

BUDDING tennis stars of the future had a smashing time when they took part in a competition at Glenburn Sports College.

Youngsters from schools across the town put their skills to the test at the SUPSSA (Skelmersdale, Up Holland Primary Schools Sport Association) Years 3&4 Mini Tennis tournament.

They were competing for the chance to represent West Lancashire at the school games in June.

Organisers praised all the children who took part with Dalton St Michael's CE Primary emerging victorious, ahead of runners-up, St Teresa's Catholic Primary, Up Holland and third-placed, Trinity Primary CE /Methodist Primary.

Dalton St Michaels will now go on to play the winners of the Ormskirk & District PSSA event.

The winners of that play-off will go to represent West Lancs at the Lancashire School Games on Tuesday, June 28 in Blackpool.

Some of the youngsters at the Whitehough Outdoor Education Centre

High school pupils swap the classroom for the great outdoors

MORE than 30 pupils from Lathom High School swapped the classroom for the great outdoors when they took part in an overnight stay at the Whitehough Outdoor Education Centre in Burnley.

During their stay the youngsters from the school in Glenburn Road, Skelmerdale tackled a range of challenges including mountain biking, archery and high rope activities.

The party was split into three groups, tackling high ropes, archery and low ropes and rotating between the three activities.

After lunch some of the youngsters took a high rope leap of faith - although a few opted out

Then they had a go at Jacob's ladder -a huge ladder that they had to climb up row by row.

The evening meal was followed by orienteering and caving exercises.

And the next morning the pupils split up into groups groups again for their final activity, mountain biking.

Year 7 pupil Sophie Heron said: "We had an amazing time at the Whitehough Outdoor Education Centre."

Curfew and community order for mum who claimed £9,000 benefits she wasn't entitled to

By our Court Reporter

A WOMAN prosecuted for claiming more than £9,000 worth of Housing Benefit she wasn't entitled to, has blamed her ex-partner and father of her children for not doing anything to support her.

Gail Howard, 36, of Cornbrook Street, Skelmersdale, appeared at Ormskirk Magistrates Court where she pleaded guilty to failing to notify West Lancashire Borough Council of a change in circumstances affecting her entitlement to benefit.

The court heard that she had legitimately claimed Housing Benefit after taking maternity leave from her job at Beaconsfield Footwear in Skelmersdale in 2011 but didn't let them know when she returned to work in January 2012.

Changed

Prosecutor Philippa White said that the council had sent out a form in January 2012 asking whether her circumstances had changed and she returned it saying that they hadn't.

The total amount of overpayment between January 2012 until May 2015 was £9,058, Mrs White said.

Ms Howard told probation workers that she'd had three children at the time and that as her partner refused to help and refused to work she was in a financial mess.

"She was very embarrassed and ashamed and too proud to ask for help," the probation report said. "She was struggling financially with three children, aged 13, six, and nine months at the time. She had difficulty paying for nursery fees and was getting no help from the children's father. She got herself into huge financial difficulties and the father refused to get employment so she felt that she had no choice but to get a job and leave the relationship."

The probation worker said that Ms Howard, who is now in a new relationship and attended court carrying a baby, was afraid of going to jail and had written letters to her children in the event that she did.

The magistrates noted that it was a "large amount of money over quite a long period of time" but said they were acknowledging her early guilty plea and co-operation with the authorities.

Sentencing her to an eight-week 10 pm-6am curfew, and to a 12-month community order including 15 days of rehabilitative activity, they waived costs of £400 and ordered that she pay just the £60 in victim surcharge.

The court heard that the council are recouping their money through weekly instalments.

Public invited to pop in to new pop-up gallery

MEMBERS of the public are being urged to go along to the Sandy Lane Shopping Centre in Skelmersdale to sample the artwork and creative activities at the new pop-up gallery and gift shop.

Organised by the Friends of Sandy Lane, in partnership with West Lancashire Borough Council, unit 116 at the Pennylands centre has been transformed.

The project opened on Tuesday, May 3 and will be open every Tuesday from 10am to 4.30pm; every Wednesday from 10am to 4pm; and every Thursday from 10.30am to 4.30pm for six weeks.

Artwork by artist and illustrator Matthew Roby is on display, as well as work from the centre's Story Tellers workshops, part of the Get Creative with Sandy Lane project funded by Arts Council England.

Published writer Sarah Schofield has been working with local people capturing their memories of the area.

Tell Me a Story, a memory corner set up by Sarah, includes memories of people who have lived and worked in Sandy Lane over the years.

Visitors are invited to the pop-up gallery to add their own particular memories over the next few weeks. And those feeling particularly creative can contribute to a collaborative community story.

There is also an activity sheet for children to write or draw stories about a real or imaginary adventure at the shopping centre, using sticky speech bubbles and colouring crayons.

Over the coming weeks the pop-up gallery will also host a free five-week short story writing course for writers aged 16 and over.

This also started on Tuesday, May 3 and will be every Tuesday from 6 to 8pm with sessions inspired by the heritage of Sandy Lane. All abilities are welcome.

Emma Blackburn, a textile artist, will be running free fun textile workshops for families. These started on Wednesday, May 4 and run for five weeks from 3.30 to 5pm.

Meanwhile, Emma is also running a Saturday Art Club for eight to 11-year-olds, initially for six weeks. Sessions started on Saturday, April 30 and will run on alternate Saturday afternoons from 1.30 to 3.30pm. The cost for this is £5 per session to be paid termly. Booking and consent forms need to be completed by contacting West Lancashire arts development service on 01695 571328 or by email at chapel.gallery@westlancs.gov.uk.

The Friends of Sandy Lane are also seeking volunteers interested in helping to run the venue. If enough people come forward the gallery could open on other days. Information will also be available on how to join the Friends of Sandy Lane.

University teams up with drinks giant to raise funds for heart charity

EDGE Hill University joined forces with leading heart charity, Cardiac Risk in the Young (Cry) to offer free cardiac screening sessions for staff and students.

Maureen Marshall, who works in the university's catering department, was a founder for the initiative and works tirelessly to encourage students to take the tests in memory of her son John, who died suddenly from a condition known as Arrhythmogenic Right Ventricular Cardiomyopathy (ARVC) in 1995, aged just 16.

John, from Ormskirk, was a promising footballer who was due to join Everton on the day he collapsed.

Edge Hill has also collaborated with soft drinks giant Coca Cola to raise money to fund the heart screenings. For every bottle of the company's Abbey Well water sold, Coca Cola, in conjunction with The University Caterers Organisation (TUCO), will donate 5p to the John Marshall Memorial Fund with CRY.

Sarah Smith, a representative from Coca Cola, visited Edge Hill to present the catering team with a cheque for £2,260 raised from sales of Abbey Well water - the amount equates to more than 45,000 bottles of the still spring water.

Sarah Smith from Coca Cola presents the Edge Hill catering team with a cheque for £2,260 raised from the sales of Abbey Well water

Each week in the UK, at least 12 young people die of undiagnosed heart conditions. Edge Hill is seeking to help reduce this figure by bringing a mobile medical test centre into the university each year to carry out free testing, in an attempt to raise awareness and identify young people at risk.

The screening, which would cost hundreds of pounds if done privately, can identify most cardiac abnormalities and it is painless, non-invasive and takes only a few minutes to complete.

Small stickers known as electrodes are placed on the client's chest and the wires connect to an Electrocardiogram (ECG) machine. This analyses the electrical activity of the heart and then provides a print-out for the cardiologist to evaluate.

We need public's help in fight against threat to our NHS

WE need help in our A&E departments.

There is a recruitment crisis with a severe shortage of doctors and waiting times are the longest in over 10 years.

Waiting times from GP referral to treatment for cancer and ambulance response times for the most serious calls are getting longer and targets haven't been met for over two years.

We need help to discharge patients - the number of patients waiting in hospital for a care package or nursing home is 70% higher than five years ago.

Meanwhile, the health secretary Jeremy Hunt and his organ-grinder Cameron are busy in the media trying to persuade the public that doctors are lazy, greedy, overpaid and misled, instead of working with doctors and front-line staff to tackle some of these serious problems.

His proposed new contract will drive many doctors overseas and worsen the A&E crisis at a time when we have the lowest number of doctors of any country in Europe.

It will not improve weekend mortality - no evidence shows that junior doctor staffing is responsible.

Doctors already work weekends and nights and you will meet one of my colleagues if you have a medical emergency at any hour of any day, including Christmas at 3am.

The contract discriminates against women such as my wife by refusing her a pay rise because she looks after our young children two days a week and other peoples' sick children the other five. Under the new contract, the penalties for overworking doctors are removed.

A doctor can work until 2am and then be back at work the next day.

Most of all, this contract is part of a plan to run down the NHS so the Tories can privatise it.

Your NHS is under threat from this government and your doctors and nurses need your support.

Our fight is your fight.

Dr Alex Stockdale, medical registrar

We know young have to let off steam but we shouldn't have to put up with yobs knocking on our door at 2am

I ALWAYS read the Letters page in the Champion and have read so many letters about the students and looked at both sides of the argument.

We understand that we were all young once and need to let off steam from time to time.

We live on St Helens Road, Ormskirk and are quite used to the passing noise we encounter most nights from people going to and from the university.

Last night was perhaps the last straw.

We were awoken by louder than usual shouting and chanting from male voices and then our security lights came on and someone was banging on the front door.

Students' letters have said we should be tolerant of our student neighbours and how they bring wealth to our community.

Can someone please tell me why we should put up with people purposely coming up our drive then banging on the front door at 2am?

Is this not trespass?

We could have telephoned the police but by the time they would have arrived these reprobates would have disappeared and we would have wasted valuable police time.

Has anyone else in the community encountered similar problems in the last few months?

Rosemary Ivory, by email

'Forgotten' Skem? Not compared to our village...the nearest bus stop is two miles away!

WITH regards to the letter by Eric Daish (Champion, April 27) no, Skelmersdale is not a forgotten town in relation to its bus service.

I live in Shirdley Hill and we now have NO public transport at all since Arriva decided to divert the 300 Liverpool/Southport away from the village.

It was a half-hourly service which used to finish around 8pm and it gave me access to the doctor, dentist, hospital, supermarket, the shops at Kew roundabout and Lime Street station.

Now the nearest bus stop is two miles away in Halsall accessed by a road which is unlit in places and has no pavement in stretches.

So, you are not hard done by in Skelmersdale.

Hazel Anderton, Shirdley Hill

The last thing this town needs is more HMOs

I CAN'T believe the suggestion by Maurice George to house students in Ormskirk police station (Letters, April 27).

Does he walk round the town with his eyes closed? Can he not see how many properties are already HMOs?

That fine building The Elms, a stone's throw away from the police station, has already been sacrificed for student accommodation thanks to our planning department and McComb holdings.

The last thing this town needs is more HMOs.

Champion reader, name & address supplied

Thanks, folks, for your support at polls

WE are writing to thank the residents of the three Ormskirk wards who supported us at last week's local elections.

We polled more than 1,600 votes, won one seat and also out-polled one of the big two parties.

On the doorstep we found that more and more people wanted a change from the stale two-party bickering in West Lancashire.

Local government is about providing good-quality local services with value for money and having responsive local councillors who will represent residents first and foremost. We will continue to pursue this vision and to campaign and work with community-minded local people for the betterment of our borough.

Councillor Adrian Owens, Jane Thompson, Peter Banks, Our West Lancashire

TTIP agreement is best reason to get out of EU

THE British people and the people of Europe owe a huge debt of gratitude to the environmental campaigning group Greenpeace for blowing the whistle on the secret trade negotiations (TTIP) between the United States and the EU.

Amongst other things the trade deal would allow US companies to sell controversial genetically modified food throughout Europe. These products have been banned in Europe for more than a decade because of potential health fears.

The documents show that US corporations will be granted unprecedented powers over any new public health or safety regulations to be introduced in future. If any European government dares to bring in laws to raise social or environmental standards, TTIP will grant US investors the right to sue for loss of profits in their own corporate court system that is unavailable to domestic firms, governments or anyone else.

The EU, rather than being a vehicle to protect workers' rights, with the introduction of TTIP will be used to destroy workers' rights. And our most precious institution, the National Health Service, will be privatised and destroyed.

This is the very wording: 'The parties acknowledge that anti-competitive business practices and state interventions have the potential to distort the proper functioning of markets and undermine the benefits of trade liberalization.'

Was there ever a better reason to get out of the EU than this?

...more a case of 'one lucky man and his two dogs' after health scare

IN case you are not aware I had a bit of a health scare a couple of weeks ago - hence no 'One Man and His Dog' in last week's Champion.

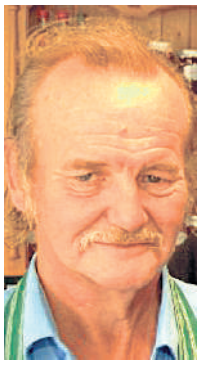
So this week's offering is more 'one lucky man and his two dogs!'

In fact, Tina and Cinders (my two shelties) helped saved my life.

I was out walking as usual in the evening when I collapsed on a field path having suffered a heart attack.

I lay where I lay for an unknown time before I was found by a couple of passers-by who called an ambulance and the police.

When I was found both Tina and Cinders were still by my side, keeping me warm. I was taken to Aintree Hospital and was very poorly for several days in the Critical Care unit but recovered sufficiently to be transferred to the Coronary Care ward at the hospital from where I am writing this piece.



Jim Sharpe

Hopefully, the doctors and nurses here can put me right - trouble is it's going to be a while.

Anyway, I apologise for the lack of a 'Dog' column last week though I think that my excuse is one of the best - or worst! But my sincere thanks must go to the people who found me, the police and the ambulance service - I'm afraid I'm yet to find out any of their names.

And thanks too to the nurses on the Critical Care unit who have made my life so much better!

I'm sorry that this 'Dog' is shorter than usual and I can't promise a regular return for the column, just yet, but I will try my best.

Anyway, my thanks also to all the readers who regularly read my column - I will try to get normal service resumed as soon as possible.

● Editor's footnote:

"We are all delighted to see Jim on the mend again after giving us such a huge scare.

We've received many messages of support for Jim and lots of people have been asking after him and wishing him well.

Jim is now recovering at home with Tina and Cinders (below).

Local issues overshadowed at polls by EU referendum, says Tory leader

THE leader of the Conservative group on West Lancs Borough Council believes national issues, such as the referendum on the UK's membership of the EU, overshadowed more local topics during the recent local elections.

A statement issued by the group said the Conservatives fought the borough election on important local issues.

It welcomed the successful election of four new, first-time Tory candidates but regretted the defeat of former mayor, Doreen Stephenson who narrowly failed to get re-elected in Halsall ward.

Conservative leader, Councillor David Weetley, said: "I was pleased that we won in five of the six Conservative wards being defended and consider the high quality of our four new councillors will greatly strengthen the effectiveness of the group in holding the Labour administration to account.

"I have to concede that our election strategy of fighting on a detailed manifesto and highlighting Labour's council tax rise, cuts in services and unnecessary borrowings, together with their lurch to the left, was overshadowed by national issues such as the EU referendum."

Grunshaw returned as police commissioner

CLIVE Grunshaw will serve a second term as Police and Crime Commissioner for Lancashire after winning the election with an increased majority.

Residents went to the polls across the county on Thursday, May 5 and turnout was 29 per cent.

No candidate secured more than 50 per cent of the first choice votes under the supplementary vote system, meaning the top two candidates went through to the second round.

After second preference votes were counted, Mr Grunshaw secured 152,714 votes compared to 118,941 for the second-placed candidate, Conservative Andy Pratt.

Following the count, Mr Grunshaw thanked voters, adding: "I am really humbled and proud to be able to serve a second term and work with our constabulary and the community to help keep Lancashire safe.

"The message is loud and clear – the public want us to maintain our local policing teams and want a commissioner who will stand up to this government and their ideological cuts.

"I am proud to be able to do that again and be the voice of people in Lancashire."

Lancashire's newly re-elected Police and Crime Commissioner Clive Grunshaw

The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has received the coveted 'Which Trusted Trader' status after going through a rigorous accreditation process entirely focussed on customer service.

Group Managing Director Marcus McGee believes that Which? have endorsed Cloudy2Clear's long standing company policy of delivering the highest standards possible at all times. 'Our service is simple. If your double glazing has misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 25 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Whilst a number of tradespeople perhaps don't focus on customer care as much as they should do, we make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle.

Locally Cloudy2Clear service the Southport, Crosby, Litherland, Aintree, Maghull, Walton, Anfield, Netherton & Bootle areas and manager Louis Richards agrees that this approach is a major factor in his success. 'The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated as both my customers and, obviously a body as nationally important as Which? now recognise.'

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give Louis a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

Volunteers wanted for heart charity shop

THE Ormskirk branch of a national charity shop chain is seeking volunteers to help in the fight against the UK's deadliest disease.

The British Heart Foundation (BHF) shop in Burscough Street is in desperate need of 'Heart Heroes' willing to volunteer and spare any hours they can each week.

Volunteering with the BHF, even for just half a day, could play a vital role in helping the charity to fund one of their scientists to carry out lifesaving research for an hour.

Report by Henry James

The BHF currently provides the salaries for around 500 post-doctoral scientists who work in research teams right across the UK on projects which help experts better understand how to diagnose, prevent, treat and cure heart disease.

And volunteering can also help those seeking permanent paid employment as a useful addition to their CV.

Partnership

Working at the shop gives volunteers the opportunity to learn new skills, gain full training and also have a guaranteed interview for any paid position that becomes available within the shop.

The BHF has volunteers from a range of ages and backgrounds and it is a way to make friends and become part of a team.

BHF Retail has also launched a partnership with the Duke of Edinburgh Award scheme making them an approved activity provider. This means that young people can now use their time volunteering in high street shops to work towards their bronze, silver or gold DofE award - another welcome addition to a CV.

Lisa Clark, BHF Retail's area manager for Ormskirk, said: "Volunteers are absolutely essential to the success of the charity, and play a vital part in fighting coronary heart disease, the UK's single biggest killer. We appreciate every minute people can spare and to show how grateful we are, we also hope to give something back.

"Our volunteers can not only use and develop the skills they already have, but can also keep their foot on the career ladder, work towards qualifications and gain some excellent experience."

Ormskirk's BHF shop offers a variety of roles from merchandising clothes, shoes and accessories, to window dressing and working the till.

To find out more about volunteering at the BHF shop in Ormskirk telephone 01695 578976 for a chat with shop manager Cindy.

Local karate aces enjoy training trip to martial art's spiritual home

A PARTY of martial arts enthusiasts from West Lancashire have enjoyed a week-long training trip at the headquarters of the Japan Karate Association.

The group - John Bowyer, Anna Pomfret, Andy Durney, John Errington, Steve Kirrelly, Michael Clayton-Brown and Mike Thompson - are all members of the Ormskirk Shotokan Karate Club.

Dubbing themselves The Ormskirk Seven, they took time out to visit the shrine of the 47 Ronin, an 18th century historic event and legend about a band of Samurai warriors who avenged their master.

They also visited Mount Fuji before commencing a gruelling four-day training course on basics kata and kumite, and seminars on judging in competitions.

John Errington, who helped to organise the trip, said: "We also had the unique experience of travelling from Tokyo to the ancient capital of Japan, Kyoto, on the famous bullet train. And while in Kyoto we visited many shrines and temples, including the Imperial Palace."

Hospital opens Quiet Room - with a little help from their Friends!

A QUIET Room has opened at Ormskirk Hospital to allow doctors and cancer patients to talk in confidence.

The new space, in the treatment centre, offers a tranquil area to discuss personal health matters.

The hospital has a busy lung cancer clinic and patients said it lacked an area for private discussions.

Southport and Ormskirk Hospital NHS Trust acted on this feedback - with a little help from the hospital's League of Friends which donated £300 to the new room.

Janet Thompson, lung cancer specialist nurse, said: "This new quiet room will make such a big difference. It is really important for patients to have a room set apart from the clinic to discuss important health matters.

"People who have cancer are living longer if their cancer is diagnosed early. Early diagnosis saves lives. If you have any concerns about your health do not put off seeing your GP."

And treatment centre sister Kate Sutcliffe, added: "Without the League of Friends we wouldn't have been able to have done this, we are really grateful for their support."

The League of Friends has supported Ormskirk Hospital for more than half a century.

We are the champions! The team from St Anne's Catholic Primary School celebrate their victory in the Ormskirk, Burscough and Tarleton Sportshall Athletics event

Pupils enjoy taste of competitive sport

YEARS 3 and 4 pupils from 11 primary schools across the Ormskirk, Burscough and Tarleton area enjoyed a taste of competitive sports when they took part in a Sportshall Athletics event organised by the West Lancashire School Sport Partnership.

Sportshall is an exciting indoor programme of adapted athletics activities for school age youngsters which provides fun ways to build core skills.

The West Lancs event was held at St Bede's Catholic High School in Ormskirk and pupils from St Bede's and Ormskirk High assisted with the organisation, impressing the primary school staff with their leadership skills.

The winners were St Anne's Catholic Primary with Aughton Town finishing second and Ormskirk third.

Angela Ma from the West Lancashire School Sports Partnership said: "It was a fantastic event with many parents turning up to St Bede's to support their children and schools."

Bid to boost county's culture tourism

Alex Saint, director of Creative Tourist

Report by Henry James

MARKETING Lancashire, which was established in 2012 with the aim of growing the county's visitor economy, has appointed a new company, Creative Tourist, to help develop it as a year-round cultural destination.

The development of cultural tourism is one of the key ambitions expressed in the county's new Visitor Economy Strategy, which aims to increase annual visitors from 63million to 70 million by 2020.

Creative Tourist has a proven track record across tourism, cultural and digital sectors, helping destinations position themselves as places that cultural tourists actively want to visit.

The company has worked around the UK in places as diverse as Blackpool, Cumbria, London, Bath, East Anglia, Edinburgh, Torbay and Cheltenham on a range of strategic and tactical projects exclusively to develop cultural tourism.

Chief executive of Marketing Lancashire, Ruth Connor, said: "As a county we need to better understand and communicate the strengths of the destination in order to attract more culture-seekers to Lancashire.

APPEALING

"The county has an incredible range of accommodation as well as a food & drink offer that is second to none. Combine these with some of the successful performances, exhibitions and events already taking place in the county and you have a very appealing proposition for the culture-savvy visitor.

"Creative Tourist has the specialist knowledge that will help us define our unique place in England's cultural landscape and develop the tools to communicate the Lancashire cultural narrative to new audiences both in this country and internationally."

Director of Creative Tourist, Alex Saint, added: "As many Lancastrians already know, the cultural offer in the county is as distinctive and diverse as its landscape, running from Pennines to coast via urban centres, historic waterways and stunning forestry.

"Our job is to tap into the creative imagination already at play, help connect different parts of the cultural and tourism offer and then magnify it, so that more tourist visitors from outside the county are aware of just how much there is here to be enjoyed and celebrated.

"It is a pleasure to be working alongside Marketing Lancashire and the Lancashire Arts Partnership to support the growth of cultural tourism in Lancashire."

Marketing Lancashire has developed a Cultural Tourism Project Steering Group which will lead on the strategic direction of the project, which has been funded through the award of £50K from the Arts Council England Lottery Funded Grants For the Arts programme.

Borough events lined up to mark Mental Health Awareness Week

MEMBERS of Lancashire Care NHS Foundation Trust's community restart team are organising in West Lancashire to mark National Mental Health Awareness Week which runs from Monday, May 16 to Sunday, May 22, and inviting the public to join in the activities.

The community restart team works with individual service users to provide support according to their requirements. This can include things such as employment, finances, housing and social inclusion.

The team has partnerships with several external organisations to provide service users with the most relevant and up-to-date support which helps with their recovery and overall wellbeing.

For Mental Health Awareness Week the team, together with some of its partners, has organised a range of events to raise awareness of mental health and reduce stigma.

In West Lancs the team is holding a community event on Monday, May 16 between 11am and 1pm at Southway, Skelmersdale to raise awareness of mental health services available, both from the trust and third sector organisations.

And on Thursday, May 19 from 11am to 2pm, they are holding a mini Peerfest at Quarry Bank Community House, Skelmersdale, bringing together peer support groups from across the area that people can link up with.

This is based on the national Peerfest which the trust hosted in partnership with Mind last year but on a smaller scale to focus specifically on support in the West Lancs area.

There is also a cycle morning to raise awareness about mental health on Thursday, May 19, meeting at Quarry Bank at 10.30am.

Hanifa Usman-Tailor, community development officer and one of the organisers, said: "This is a great opportunity to get people talking about mental health; whether they are living with mental health problems themselves, or someone is concerned about a loved one."

The full programme of events can be found onine at www.lancashire-care.nhs.uk/mental-health-awareness-week-2016.

Booths to host charity food and wine event

BOOTHS supermarket in Burscough is set to host a wine and food matching event with proceeds going to a West Lancashire children's charity.

The event will be held in the café at the store on the Ringtail Retail Park on Thursday, May 19 from 7 to 9pm.

Numbers will be limited to just 70 and tickets, priced £2, are available on a strictly first come-first served basis from the customer service kiosks at the supermarket.

All proceeds from the evening will be donated to Rainbow House at Mawdesley which supports children and young people with life-limiting conditions.

Led by a team from the licensed, counter and deli departments, customers will be treated to a prosecco reception, followed by an introduction to a selection of wine and food pairings from Manchego cheese to smoked salmon and vanilla ice cream.

Booths' specialist manager, Tim Clegg said: "Picking a great wine is one thing, but knowing how to take it to the next level with perfect flavour pairings can sometimes be a challenge.

"Our team of experts have selected some of our favourite Booths' wines for our customers to discover and matched them with some of our best regional produce, perfect for entertaining or al fresco dining and we are looking forward to sharing the know-how with our guests.

"Our customers love learning more about food and wine and we thought raising money for Rainbow House at the same time made perfect sense."

Martin Mere news

The breeding season is in full swing at WWT Martin Mere Wetland Centre with 21 Greater flamingo eggs, 2 Eurasian crane eggs and 4 Black swan eggs in the grounds as well as plenty of ducklings hatching out in our duckling nursery.

Grounds Manager, Steve Nasir, said: "We are going to have lots and lots of chicks, cygnets and ducklings right in time for our award winning Downy Duckling week starting on 28 May. Families can come along and see ducklings develop inside eggs, hatching eggs and new born ducklings in our nursery – it is a great event and one all staff and volunteers look forward to."

But how does a duckling develop inside an egg? It takes 24 hours for a duck to lay just one egg and they will often lay a large number of eggs before then sitting on them and incubating at a temperature of 37.50C. By shining a strong beam of light onto the eggs (a technique known as candling) it is possible to tell whether they are fertile & healthy. Incubation periods vary between 20 and 42 days depending upon the species – our Greater flamingos for example will incubate their eggs for 30 days and the Black swan with incubate their eggs for 35 days, with smaller ducks taking just 25 days.

On average it takes 16 to 18 hours for a duckling to hatch but it can take as long as 48 hours. They use a special egg tooth on the top of their bill to break the shell around the top and they are extremely tired at the end of it. The duckling can't go in water when they hatch as they are not waterproof, they have to develop a preen gland to ensure their down becomes waterproof and after a few days they will be fine to get their feet wet on a small pond.

By the age of 8 weeks the ducklings are fully grown.

In other news at the centre, the reserve has 3 oystercatcher chicks as well as a good variety of warblers such as Garden warbler, willow warbler and grasshopper warblers, plus a little egret and summer plumaged Mediterranean gulls.

Steve continues: "Spring is a great time of year to visit the centre, there is so much new life and with all of the wildflowers starting to grow and the butterflies fluttering around, this is one of my favourite seasons."

WWT Martin Mere is open every day from 9.30am to 6pm and parking is free of charge. Situated off the A59, it is signposted from the M61, M58 and M6. The Centre is also accessible via the Southport to Manchester and the Liverpool to Preston line by train from Burscough Rail Stations. ‘Mystery’ substance sparks fears over field next to school

CONCERNED residents have expressed fears about an unidentified white substance “oozing out of the ground” on a playing field next to a school in Ormskirk.

The Champion was contacted by neighbours worried about the substance which they say has been seen on the field in Grimshaw Lane, next to Ormskirk West End Primary School.

One of the residents, who asked to remain anonymous, said: “I was told by another dog walker that when it rains, a white substance oozes out of the ground.

“I have heard that during World War Two, waste was buried there and we are concerned that the substance could be toxic or dangerous. The field is very close to the school.”

West Lancs Council officers have visited the site but couldn’t find any white substances. They are urging residents who have any fears to contact their Environmental Protection team.

Residents say they have seen a white substance oozing from the ground in this field

A council spokesperson said: “The council hasn’t received any other reports of this nature from this area of Ormskirk. We take residents’ concerns very seriously and we would ask that this person contacts the council’s environmental protection team on 01695 577177 to give us more details so we can investigate this further.”

Shortlist announced for Edge Hill Short Story Prize 2016

Report by Henry James

ORGANISERS of the Edge Hill Short Story Prize 2016 have unveiled the shortlist for the annual award which this year celebrates its 10th anniversary.

The Edge Hill Prize is the only UK-based award that recognises excellence in a published short story collection.

This year has seen established names competing alongside relative newcomers for the £10,000 main prize, a £1,000 Readers' Prize and an additional category worth £500 acknowledging rising talents on the Ormskirk university's own MA creative writing course.

Ailsa Cox, the Edge Hill Prize founder and professor of short fiction at the university, said whittling the list of 38 talented entries down to six finalists was challenging.

"This year has seen some of the strongest submissions in the 10 years this award has been running. The 2016 Edge Hill Prize finalists will join what is a roll-call of world-class talent. The judges absolutely have their work cut out for them in choosing this year's winner from a list that includes prize-winning authors alongside rising talent."

Thrilled

Cathy Galvin, founder and director of The Word Factory, the UK's leading promoter of excellence in short fiction writing and co-host of the Edge Hill Prize celebration event, said she was thrilled to be on this year's judging panel.

"It's been wonderful to watch the most significant British prize for a collection of short stories going from strength to strength and an honour to be a judge for such a superb, diverse shortlist. This prize recognises great writing from emerging and established authors alike."

The Edge Hill Prize is awarded annually by the university for excellence in a published single author short story collection. The winner will be announced on Tuesday, July 5 at a special celebration co-hosted with The Word Factory in London.

Other judges include last year's winner, Kirsty Gunn and Edge Hill's creative writing lecturer, Billy Cowan.

HEAR ANYTHING, ANYWHERE!

This is your personal invitation to our exclusive 'Music and Speech Experience' with our Wall of Sound. Visit us to see, try and hear how the newest and best hearing aids of 2016 will transform the way the hear music and speech.

Traditional hearing aids have been limited by the transducers (microphones and speakers) in that they were limiting the dynamic range of sounds you could hear. Music by nature has far richer ranges of depth and breadth of sound, especially when compared to speech or listening to family and friends on a telephone.

In summary; historically hearing aid wearers found traditional hearing aids offer only speech shaped amplification; for good reason. However this speech shaped sound makes music sound unnatural.

The WALL OF SOUND also has an added feature for demonstrating recent far ranging improvements in our ability to help you hear speech in noise.

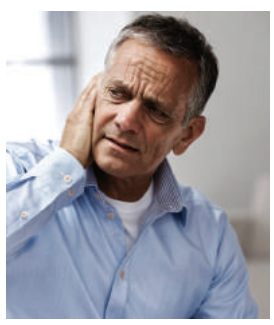
WAX REMOVAL SERVICE

Safe, Fast and Gentle

Ear wax or 'Cerumen', is normal and its presence is in the canal is healthy, as it helps to protect the ear. Occasionally as wax migrates from ear canal it can cause a blockage, preventing sound from travelling down the ear canal to the eardrum, which can cause temporary hearing loss.



Impacted wax can also adversely affect the performance of hearing aids; in particular it can cause feedback or whistling, or cause the instrument to become faulty.

Micro-Suction

'Micro-suction' offers a safe, gentle and very effective way of removing wax using a soft suction or vacuum. Traditional ear syringing uses a jet of water, which many people find unpleasant and many patients are unsuitable, for example if they have a perforated eardrum. Micro-suction is safe and harmless, using no jets of water at all.

VALUE FOR MONEY?

Yes. A recent hearing aid buying survey carried out by the independent consumer watchdog Which? found that independent hearing aid specialists gave the most value for money and the newest and best technology anywhere.

Which?

The KGV medal winners Nathan Browne, Katie Dixon-Turner, Alex Gould, Jordan MacDonald, Max Noble, Alec Scott

National sporting success for college

STUDENTS from a college which is attended by many youngsters from West Lancashire competed in the Association of Colleges Sport National Finals at Northumbria University, winning one gold medal and three silver medals.

The students, from King George V College, Southport, achieved their place in the finals after succeeding against competition from other local colleges in a variety of different sporting tournaments, during the regional qualifiers at venues across the North West.

Laura Rummens, BTEC sport teacher at KGV, said: "Our students performed fantastically and once again showed that KGV is a dominating force within sport."

Jordan MacDonald, who competed in the 50m and 100m butterfly, the 50m medley relay and the 50m free relay, gained a gold individual medal and a silver team North West medal.

Nathan Browne, a sports leader at the college, competed in the cross country event and his combined effort with the rest of the North West team saw him walk away with a silver medal.

Alec Scott and Max Noble, who returned to the men's badminton doubles after achieving silver medals at last year's national finals, were hot favourites from the beginning of the competition and the pair continued to perform strongly throughout the weekend. They won a silver medal.

Other notable performances included Alex Gould who faced tough competition in his squash matches and came away with a very respectable fifth place position.

Katie Dixon-Turner and Rachel Newnham also performed outstandingly in the women's badminton doubles and went through to the quarter finals of the competition.

In September 2016, KGV will launch a new Sports Academy and will hope to carry on its sporting successes.

New recruits wanted for police cadets

LANCASHIRE Police Cadets have launched a membership drive and are seeking to recruit youngsters aged between 13 and 18 who want to acquire new skills and work within their local communities.

There are currently 450 volunteer police cadets across nine units in the county, including West Lancashire, and the force is looking for a further 200 to join the cadet 'family'.

Sergeant Helen Nellany, the force's citizens in policing development officer, said: "The cadets give young people the opportunity to experience the full spectrum of policing within Lancashire, whilst carrying out fundraising challenges.

"They get involved in an array of projects aimed at breaking down barriers between the police, young people and the wider community.

Valuable

"Police cadets help and assist in the community by getting involved in a number of activities, including stewarding local events such as fairs, town shows and carnivals. They also help the local neighbourhood policing teams, carry out leaflet drops, crime prevention initiatives, community safety events and street surveys.

"And they benefit from learning valuable team skills and disciplines, with many opting to progress further and become a special constable or a regular police officer, whilst others utilise their experience when applying for jobs."

Recruitment is open to both boys and girls and interested applicants can apply online at www.lancashire.police.uk/cadets.

Karate club going from strength to strength

ONE of the founding members of a West Lancs martial arts club which caters for all ages from six years upwards says it is going from strength to strength.

Instructor, Sensei Steve Lloyd was speaking after members of Parbold Karate Club enjoyed more success at their latest gradings at Robin Park, Wigan.

Sixty-year-old Steve, originally from Liverpool but resident in Skelmersdale and Newburgh for more than 40 years, achieved his 5th Dan.

At the other end of the scale, meanwhile, 14-year-old Matthew Stockley gained his first black belt.

Steve's first sporting love was boxing due to his family background. His late uncle, Jimmy Lloyd was an Olympic bronze medal winner and young Steve used to train with him at Skelmersdale ABC .

He first took up martial arts at the age of 16 in 1980, training in the Goju Ryu style under the guidance of Sensei Tony Bithell and gaining his first black belt seven years later.

His dream was to one day open his own school and he finally achieved that in 2003, establishing Parbold Karate Club at the village hall.

The club, which is affiliated with the British Karate Association, meets on Wednesdays and Fridays from 6.30 to 8pm and new members are always welcome.

The winning gymnasts from Ormskirk CE Primary School

Young gymnasts book place in Lancashire School Games finals

PUPILS from Ormskirk CE Primary School have secured a place at the largest youth sporting event in the county, the SPAR Lancashire School Games, after vaulting to success in a West Lancashire gymnastics competition.

The youngsters battled it out against three other schools from across West Lancashire in floor, vault and body management routines at Ormskirk High School.

They will now go on to represent the borough at the SPAR Lancashire School Games county finals where they will compete against teams from 14 other Lancashire districts to be named county champions in gymnastics.

Chris Hart, school games organiser for West Lancashire, said: "The standard of gymnastics in this year's county finals qualifier was outstanding, with only a 0.9 point difference between the two top placed teams. It was a fantastic day of gymnastics showcasing the talent of some children across our West Lancashire district. I look forward to cheering our gymnasts on in Blackpool."

Now in its 10th year, the SPAR Lancashire School Games is designed to give all children the opportunity to participate in competitive sport.

Schools across Lancashire will bid for a place at the county finals to be crowned champions in sports including rounders, tennis, orienteering, netball, athletics and gymnastics.

More than 2,400 youngsters are expected to take part in the event at Stanley Park in Blackpool on July 5.

Aussie soap star set to appear in resort panto

Report by Henry James

AUSSIE soap star Lynne McGranger will be aiming to cast a spell over audiences at Southport Theatre this festive season when she takes up the role of the Wicked Queen in the venue's family pantomime, Snow White.

Sydney-born Lynne is known for her portrayal of Irene Roberts in the long-running Home And Away, a part she has played since 1993.

In 2014 she was also runner-up on the Australian version of Dancing with the Stars and used the show to raise awareness and much-needed funds for the Bears of Hope Pregnancy and Infant Loss Support charity.

This will be the third time Lynne has worked with producers Imagine Theatre, having previously appeared as the Fairy at the Lyceum Theatre in Crewe in 2008 and as the Fairy Godmother in Cinderella in Newark last year.

Lynne said: "I am delighted to be working with Imagine Theatre once again. I had a great time in both Crewe and Newark and made some wonderful friends.

"I love the Imagine style of pantomime as they focus heavily on the quality of the production with strong stories, alongside a lot of humour that appeals to all ages.

"The UK panto experience is always exciting - even though I'm working hard and doing two shows a day, it's also like a holiday.

Lynne McGranger

"I love being somewhere new, meeting people and making new friends. I am really excited that this year I will be getting to play one of the most iconic fairytale baddies - it's going to be great fun."

Steve Boden, managing director of Imagine Theatre, commented: "All of us at Imagine are delighted to be working with Lynne once again. Not only is she a brilliant performer, she is a wonderful person to have around and a joy to work with."

Snow White runs from Friday December 9 to Saturday, December 31. For more information call 0844 871 3021 or go to www.atgtickets.com/southport.

Team Phoebe's grand effort for health trust

POLICE officers from Sefton have donated £1,200 to Liverpool Community Health Trust after being inspired by a colleague's daughter.

The group of bobbies formed 'Team Phoebe' to support cystic fibrosis at Southport and Ormskirk Hospital after Martin Duddy's daughter, Phoebe, was born with the condition four years ago.

But since then, their registered charity 'Phoebe's Fund' has raised money for countless other good causes across Merseyside and last week they presented a cheque for £1,200 to nurses from Liverpool Community Health Trust.

The team raised the money by holding a charity race night at Crosby Comrades Club and it will be used to buy a morphine syringe pump for Macmillan nurses to administer pain relief to cancer patients being cared for at home or in hospices.

The charitable cause was chosen by Kelly Coulton, whose husband Steve, a serving Sefton police officer, died from cancer last year.

Kelly said: "I would like to thank everyone involved in the fundraising for the money to buy the syringe pump. The symptoms of bone cancer can vary greatly but include persistent bone pain that gets worse over time and continues into the night with swelling, redness and a noticeable lump.

"I want to raise awareness of the signs and symptoms of bone cancer to young people, who might not think they can get it, because the earlier a cancer is picked up, the easier it is to treat it and treat successfully. It is important that people go their doctor as soon as possible if they notice worrying symptoms."

'Team Phoebe' have previously raised money for the stroke unit at Aintree University Hospital.

Syringe drivers are small, battery-operated portable pumps which deliver a steady flow of injected medication under the skin in a steady, reliable way to control pain.

Claire Johnston, community Macmillan nurse and Kirsten Collins, the district nurse who helped care for Steve towards the end of his life accepted the cheque from Phoebe's Fund on behalf of Liverpool Community Health NHS Trust. They said: "We are so grateful to Team Phoebe for raising this money. The syringe driver is a vital piece of equipment that will help improve the quality of life for our patients nearing the end of life."

University to host regional premiere of transgender film

EDGE Hill University will host the regional premiere screening of "ground-breaking" transgender film Deconstructing Zoe today (Wednesday, May 11).

The film follows transgender actor Zoe from boyhood in a small Malaysian town, to the West-end stage via the 'trans' scene of London. The film is an exploration of gender, race and sexuality, seen through Zoe's eyes.

The screening will include a question and answer session with Zoe, the subject of the film, as well as an in discussion session with the film's director Rosa Fong, senior lecturer in Film and Television in the Department of Media at Edge Hill University.

Deconstructing Zoe sees interviews interwoven with performances from Zoe's semi-autobiographical play An Occasional Orchid – the orchid being a common metaphor of the West's perception of Asian women being seen as exotic, beautiful and desirable.

Professor Roger Shannon, organiser of the screening and director of Edge Hill University's Institute for Creative Enterprise said: "Rosa Fong's documentary is not only a very timely filmic investigation into this topical subject of gender fluidity, bringing insights and greater awareness, but it is also a testament to the University's ability to keep its finger on the pulse of public discussion."

A shot from the film Deconstructing Zoe

The performance pieces echo the experience of transgendered people, who Zoe says often live a twilight existence.

The message of the film is that gender is not fixed or binary.

The film has been selected to play at the Seattle transgender film festival Translations in mid-May. Translations is a ground-breaking film festival that provides the Pacific Northwest with a venue for films by, for, and about transgender people and the issues facing the trans-gender community.

Deconstructing Zoe will air at Edge Hill University at Edge Hill University's Creative Edge. Bookings can be made by visiting www.edgehill.ac.uk/ice/

Proclaimers stopping off at resort's theatre

THE Proclaimers are to stop off at Southport Theatre this Saturday (May 14) at 7.30pm as part of their UK tour.

After releasing their acclaimed 10th studio album Let's Hear It For The Dogs in April 2015, The Proclaimers embarked on a mammoth 68 UK date tour which included 15 festivals (Glastonbury, T In The Park and Carfest amongst others) and 53 sold out theatres.

Ents 24, the UK's biggest live guide, announced The Proclaimers as the sixth biggest live music act in the UK in 2015.

The twin brothers famous songs are 500 Miles, Letter From America and Let's Get Married and they will be supported by Will Varley.

Strikingly individual, twin brothers Craig and Charlie Reid have over the years enjoyed success across the globe.

The Proclaimers have carved out a niche for themselves in the netherworld where pop, folk, new wave and punk collide. In the process they have enjoyed Gold and Platinum singles and albums in the UK, USA, Canada, Australia and New Zealand.

Following on from the theatre success of the musical drama featuring songs by The Proclaimers, Sunshine On Leith, the movie version had its UK release in 2013 and was popular, opening at number three, and generating over £4.8 million at the UK Box office.

Sunshine On Leith, which stars Peter Mullen and Jane Horrocks, was number five in the highest grossing Independent UK films of 2013.

Rambling folk singer Will Varley famously walked over 500 miles along England's south coast with a guitar on his back, making him the perfect support act for The Proclaimers!

Group back due to public demand

POPULAR local band The Sandgrounders are back together again performing their tribute to the music of The Shadows and Cliff, and have dates around the local area throughout 2016.

Their next show takes place at the Fleetwood Hesketh Club, Fylde Road, Southport on Saturday, May 21 at 7.30pm.

This will be the second of four following a complete sell out at The Prince of Wales Hotel back in February.

The line up of the band consists of all the original members from back in the 1990s and 2000s.

As most people may be aware The Sandgrounders started performing way back in 1958 and have carried the flag for Southport ever since playing the music from the 50s, 60s and 70s, including this tribute show.

After careful consideration and recruiting the right personnel, this show has been put back together again due to public demand.

All the music on the night is live, warts and all.

For tickets to the concert, contact The Fleetwood Hesketh on 01704 227968 or 07754 905003.

Fun and surprises in show

A NEW Peppa Pig live stage show, Peppa Pig's Surprise, has just had its world premiere and is now touring the UK and Ireland and is coming to the Liverpool Empire between May 28– 29.

It's a lovely day and Peppa is playing outside with her friends. Mummy Pig and Daddy Pig have got a surprise for her and her younger brother George but no matter how hard they try, they cannot guess what it is.

In Peppa Pig's Surprise audiences will enjoy interactive fun, games and, of course, surprises.

This colourful new show features new songs and new life-size puppets.

A woman's car is perfect in pink according to motoring boffins!

Pretty in pink is the way forward for the new DS 3 - but what will feminists think about the latest addition to the Citroen range?...

The DS 3 Givenchy Le Make Up is a tie-up with French fashion brand Givenchy

Life On Cars
DAVID SIMISTER
www.lifeoncars.co.uk

THE perfect car for women should have a pink dashboard, a cosmetics kit and LED lighting that makes it easier to apply.

Before you fire up your keyboards and prepare your email to The Champion's editor that's not me being sexist for the sake of an intro. That's the genuine specification of a three-door hatchback you'll be able to order in a couple of week's time.

I haven't been on enough political correctness courses to work out whether or not the DS 3 Givenchy Le MakeUp is patronising to the opposite sex or just brilliant brand placement. Girly cars with pink upholstery are nothing new (take a bow, Fiat 500), and nor is marketing your upmarket bit of motoring with a fashionable label (the Range Rover Vogue, for all its blokey off-road credentials, was originally named after the fashion magazine). But blending the two is genuinely brave stuff.

The encouraging news is the basic package is genuinely good stuff. I've driven several DS3s – admittedly when they were badged as Citroëns rather than a posh French brand in their own right – and all had an enticing blend of consummate handling, plucky engines and energetic, youthful styling. It's exactly the sort of fun-filled family car I'll hop into for a cheeky B-road blast.

But – and here's the rub – I can't help feel sorry for the bloke whose car breaks down one Monday morning, with no public transport to hand. The only way of getting to the office on time is to borrow the other half's DS 3 Givenchy Le MakeUp, and all his mates are going to see him driving it. It's a car named in honour of make up, for heaven's sake. Our poor friend – who might as well walk to work wearing a short skirt for the same effect - is going to feel like an utter berk driving it.

That's my problem with gender-specific cars. Women are far brighter human beings than most males are and are perfectly capable of adapting any car to their needs without the need for pink upholstery and in-built cosmetic kits, and don't need manufacturer help. It also begs the question of where the bloke equivalent is – a DS 3 The Lad Bible with an in-built fridge full of Carlsberg and some Liverpool season tickets is just about as ludicrous, but that won't happen any time soon.

The DS 3 is a brilliant car – but chucking make up and silly pink trim at it doesn't improve it one jot.

David is features editor of Classic Car Weekly

The interior of the new DS 3 is pretty in pink...and the make-up below

Monster opening stand sets up Ormskirk win

THE weather may have picked up last weekend but the standard of cricket for some of our ten local clubs in the Liverpool & District Cricket Competition certainly didn't, as six were beaten and four victorious.

In the Premier Division, Ormskirk moved within six points of the leaders after a 46 run home win over Rainhill.

The hosts elected to bat and declared after 55 overs on 233-2, thanks in no small part to a 183 run opening partnership between Andy Baybutt (96) and Michael Jones (84), whilst Josh Bohannon weighed in with an unbeaten 35.

In reply Sam Kershaw top scored with 55 for Rainhill as they were bowled out for 187, with Scott Lees grabbing 3-44 and George Lavelle taking 4 catches behind the stumps.

Northern suffered their first defeat of the season as they were beaten by 6 wickets at Bootle, Liam Grey (39) and Jack Boardman (21) were the only batsmen to pass 20 as Northern had no real answer to Chris Liptrot who took 7-46 and helped dismiss the visitors for just 104. In reply, David Snellgrove (46) and Scott Butterworth (29*) took Bootle to victory and to the top of the table on 106-4.

Formby are still looking for their first win of the campaign after a 5 wicket home defeat by Leigh, after elected to bat Lancashire's Stephen Parry (47), Dane Williams (40*), Charlie Gallagher (27) and Tym Crawford (24) took the hosts to 179 all out, with Matty McKiernan taking 6-41. In reply, Lancashire's Luis Reece (78) and Danny Willoughby (43*) took the visitors to 183-5 to wrap up victory.

This weekend's local LDCC Premier League fixtures: Formby v Bootle, Lytham v Ormskirk, Wallasey v Northern.

Burscough continue their perfect start

BURSCOUGH continued their perfect start to their season in the First Division,with a 73 run home win over Highfield.

After being asked to bat the hosts piled up 226-7 dec in 53.4 overs, thanks in the main to Navdeep Aujla (56), Alan Murray (51) and Chris Andrews with an unbeaten 37. In reply only Ryan Hargreaves (40), Michael Gaskell (33) and James Taylor (20) got going with the bat as Aujla's 5-37 helped clinched victory for his team and the man of the match for himself.

Southport & Birkdale climbed into the top two with a 26 run home win over Prestatyn, after electing the bat the hosts racked up 215-9 dec off 55 overs, thanks to valuable contributions from Guy Edwards (43), skipper Chris Firth (29*), Isaac Lea (24), Wim van der Walt (20) and Jackson Burns (20), whilst Gareth Boughey took 3-35 with the ball. In reply, the visitors made S&B fight all the way for victory thanks to 95 from their skipper David Harris, but his opposite number Firth had the final say with 4-29 as the Welshmen were finally dismissed for 189. Fleetwood Hesketh made it two wins out of three with a 5 wicket win at Maghull after the hosts declared after 55 overs on 216-9, thanks to 80 from Jon Ring, 39 from skipper Paul Walters and 35 from Joe Dunne, with Issy Perera taking 4 wickets and Tommy Wareing 3. In reply Neil Rimmer (91) and Huw Summerfield (57) opened up with a superb century stand, before Lee Bolton (20*) hit the winning boundary in the penultimate over to take the visitors to 218-6, with Liam Johnson claiming 4 of the wickets to fall.

Ainsdale are still searching for their first win of the season after a 4 wicket defeat at Northop Hall, after choosing to bat the visitors were bowled out for 162, with the pick of the bowlers being Will Higginson with 6-47. The bowler then helped guide his side home with an unbeaten 68 and Danny Nolan weighed in with 42 as the hosts sealed victory.

Saturday's local Division One and Two fixtures: Prestatyn v Burscough, Sefton Park v Maghull, Hightown St Mary's v Skelmersdale.

Skem set for end of season awards night

Ian Rowlands has impressed this season at Skelmersdale

By Neil Leatherbarrow

FRIDAY is a big night in the Stormy Corner Social Club on Skelmersdale United's ground, it is presentation night.

Three trophies are up for grabs, the main Supporters Player of the Year award, followed in no particular order by the Manager's Player of the Year and the Players' Player of the Year.

The Supporters Award could literally go to any one of a number of players and it would be unfair here to put a prospective winner forward, as it would be for the other two trophies.

The Top Goalscorer Award will be handed to Chris Almond with seventeen goals since his September move from Chorley, making his total for the club (he had spells with Southport and the Magpies in between) to 81, just edging out youngster Max Hazeldine.

One player who probably won't get a player of the year trophy is centre-half Ian Rowlands, who has won the Supporters Player of the Month award for April. Ian only signed for Skelmersdale at the end of February and he is one for next season.

Entrance to the night is free and there will a free supper supplied, it starts at 7-30pm, the only request is, could you let a club official know if you intend going so food numbers can be as accurate as possible,

The Champion plan to have a report about events on the night and photographs of the respective winners in next week's paper, plus a number of other news items from Skem United.

Which? Best hearing aid provider overview

Following an extensive survey and the views of over 400 Which? members who had purchased hearing aids in the last 3 years, independent retailers came out top with a customer score of 84%. This score was based on customer satisfaction and recommendation which included levels of service and aftercare.

ClearChoice - Independent sound advice you can trust

Are we qualified?

Our Audiologists hold advanced degrees from accredited universities and have special training in the identification, assessment and non-medical treatment of hearing disorders. They complete a full-time internship, pass a demanding national examination and must be fully licensed. This makes our Audiologists the most qualified to advise you on your hearing.

How long have we been helping people with hearing difficulties?

We have 35 years experience and have fitted over ten thousand digital hearing instruments. An audiologist who has fitted thousands of patients is more likely to recognise and solve problems. Fitting hearing aids correctly is both an art and a science. Our Audiologists will maximise the potential of your hearing instruments by using all of the features of your ideal aid, while the less skilled might fail to activate up to 50% of the hearing aid's capabilities.

How will you determine what is best for my hearing situation?

Our Audiologist will take a detailed history of your hearing problem, your expectations, and lifestyle. In addition a thorough tone and speech testing assessment will be carried out. Measurements for comfortable hearing levels are also tested.

Our comprehensive testing is to improve your hearing sensibility and re-establish normal hearing perception.

Are there any hearing aid manufacturers you recommend?

As Independent Audiologists, we work with all the hearing aid manufacturers from around the world. Every hearing loss is unique and one manufacturer product line may not meet the needs of everyone! As we work with the world's choice, we are in the best position possible to select the correct device that will match your needs.

The amazing video otoscope

Let's show you what's happening inside...

Our state-of-the-art video otoscope system can show inside your ear canal right up to your ear drum, all visible on the colour screen.

See inside your ear like never before, with no discomfort whatsoever!

Video otoscopy allows us to clearly visualise the ear canal and ear drum by projecting an image onto a computer monitor.

Using video otoscopy, we can see first hand any conditions such as the presence or build up of wax, or debris in the canal that may cause problems with your hearing.

Give your ears a clean bill of health!

Video otoscopy ultimately provides both patients and audiologists with a greater understanding and appreciation of what is happening inside your ear.

Our free Audiometric Test will help us identify your hearing difficulties

If you want to know more about how better hearing can be achieved - your local Hearing Aid Audiological experts will give you the best advice FREE. There is never any obligation and all the valuable information is available to you.

FREE AUDIOMETRIC TEST

Following a discussion on the history of your hearing and a brief ear examination, our Hearing Aid Audiologist will carry out a free comprehensive hearing test. You are asked to respond to a variety of frequencies which allow the Hearing Aid Audiologist to plot your results on a graph. With the results explained, the test is over... it's as simple as that!

We often find it is a great help when testing your hearing to have a familiar voice with you. Part of our full hearing assessment is to present speech in what is called a Speech Clarity Test. A family member or close friend is ideal and they are free to help you with the hearing test as well as ask questions which you may not have thought of yourself.
